

Sarah Adams, MA

Sarah R. Adams has been described by clients as creative, knowledgeable, and someone who makes learning new ideas fun!

Sarah brings a wide variety of unique writing experiences to Hurley Write as an award-winning multimedia producer, reporter, and writer with a PBS/NPR television and radio station. Sarah's nearly decade of college classroom experience as a professor of media writing means she understands how challenging writing can be, even for seasoned professionals!

She's also learned to live by the mantra: practice makes progress and encourages participants in her classes to embrace this mantra.

